This calendar application lets you easily keep track of your day, so you can manage your time, track appointments, input events and tasks, have instant access to them and organize them by day, week, month and year. Recurring events allow you to create and manage any number of times that you want something to happen. For example, you can make a meeting recurring, every Friday. Your tasks can also be easily managed, so you don't forget anything. Create a task once, then it will remind you every time the due date comes around. In addition, you can control the processing of files by attaching them to tasks, so you can just give the task to others and they'll automatically process the files at the proper time.
