This article briefly reviews the fundamentals of tuberculosis (TB) with a special focus on the complex and atypical manifestations of pituitary lesions in patients with associated systemic TB. Local observations and contemporary data on the prevalence of pituitary TB are also presented. Patients with endocrine (hypopituitarism) and non-endocrine (e.g. headache, visual complaints) complaints are discussed. The different characteristics of the different local manifestations (e.g. sellar-parasellar, suprasellar) and the risk of pituitary dissemination are also

By now, my co-founder Chris is spending more time on his new startup, while I've been working to bring development and marketing of the app back to me. The app is a mobile video messaging app for the iPhone and IOS.I'd love to know of anyone who can help me out with some development. Part of my needs are:1. Designing a new user interface for the existing app.2. Post the API of the new design to HN for feedback.Thank you! ====== gus_massa I don't know what you mean with (2), but I don't see why someone would want to help with only designing a new user interface. That will take a lot of time and you will have to explain the reasons behind it. If you get a UI designer or two you will get a new cost, but you will save time, so it's ok. If you only need someone with a good programming skills and that you can trust (and it's better if that person already uses your app and is happy) you can contact a freelancer. I don't know any in your area, but there are a lot of freelancers that prefer to do the UI design of small apps. ~~~ iPhoneDeveloper Thanks for all your help. I need help with the programming part of the new UI design. I just want someone 3da54e8ca3
