thus, all planning results for the new crane configuration are also calculated directly from the live data generated by the crane. it is thus possible to simulate planning results in advance in order to check out the complete range of possibilities and risks. users can immediately tell if they are within the limits of the mobile crane licence, for example. the planning process can easily be continued to the planning of mobile and crawler crane jobs as well as to the planned crane positions, in order to undertake the actual jobs safely. these crane jobs can easily be selected using a java applet. for each crane configuration the most appropriate lifting location is chosen together with the positioning and rotation options. the results can then be export to a pdf document. the lifting plan can be exported in several formats, such as pdf, excel or text (html). the complete planning data is exported in a data file containing all data. the planning data can be additionally be edited using a tool provided by liebherr. this data can then be imported into crane planner 2.0 or other liebherr planning software, e.g. crane dj-lhx. the development of crane planner 2.0 has resulted in a new, intelligent crane planning module. crane planner 2.0 analyses the crane configuration and loads with complex algorithms. liebherr mobile cranes, crawler cranes and hydraulic rope excavators can be installed and integrated using the crane planning module. the ability to integrate mobile cranes in particular is innovative and makes crane planner 2.0 unique. in addition to loads and objects, crane planner 2.0 includes the latest crane data directly from the mobile cranes.
